Course description

Qualification Master

Field of study Hotel, catering, tourism, leisure, transport and logistics

Course summary This is the perfect specialisation if you are interested in developing sustainable leisure concepts. Earn a dual degree in just over 1 year, while creating the future of tourism.

Course description Tourism managers know how to work with scenario planning. In this course, you will learn how, opening the door to a dynamic career. As an (international) policymaker, or as manager of a hotel chain or theme park, for example. Other career options are consulting, planning, and research and development. You will have the opportunity to work on real-world research projects. Being part of the European Tourism Futures Institute (ETFI), you get to combine academic and applied research. This means you will learn the theoretical skills, but will also collaborate in hands-on projects. This programme received the 'Triple Good' Rating by the Dutch-Flemish Accreditation Organization (NVAO), making it one of the best in its field. It is run in partnership with the University of Derby. This allows you to earn both a Dutch Master of Arts (MA) and a British Master of Science (MSc) degree in 14 months.

Study subjects Theoretical Perspectives of Leisure and Tourism; Quality of Leisure and Tourism; Policy and Planning of Leisure and Tourism; Elective module; Common modules: Market Value Creation; Sustainable Value Creation; Research; Personal Value Creation; Master Thesis

Course With this top-rated Dutch master, you will be prepared in the best possible way for a career in the hospitality industry. The degree gives you an edge over the competition in an industry that
