Course description

Qualification Bachelor of Science

Field of study Humanities, social sciences, communication and arts

Course summary The Creative Media and Game Technologies degree programme offers you the possibility to learn everything about both creative media and game technologies.

Course description As the name indicates, CMGT will teach you about Creative Media and Game Technologies, a wide field of study. Do you have a broad interest in interactive media or are you passionate about creating games? At CMGT, you can determine your own study path. We will focus on 3 professional roles that you encounter everywhere in the professional field. In the first year, you can experiment with these roles and subsequently choose the one that suits you best, which can be either an artist, designer or engineer.

Study subjects After the first year, you will continue to specialise in Game Artist, Media Artist, Experience designer (Media and/or Games), Media Engineer or Game Engineer. You choose a definitive role and, depending on your preference, will either move more in the direction of interactive media in general or specialize specifically in games.

Course objectives CMGT will teach you everything you want to know about Creative Media and Game Technologies and prepares you for a professional role as an artist, (experience) designer or engineer.

About the institution

Department School of Creative Technology

Saxion University of Applied Sciences is one of the larger institutions of higher education in the Netherlands, with over 23,000 students (and still growing!). Saxion University has a rich history - its roots can be traced back to the 1875. A merger of two educational institutions, the Hogeschool Enschede and Hogeschool IJsselmeer, in 1998 paved the way for Saxion University in its present form. This merger enabled Saxion to build further on its strong position in Dutch higher education and since then Saxion University has come to be recognised as an important centre of expertise at regional, national and international level. We are very proud of our diverse student body. Our international student population tops 2,500 students with a total of 55 different nationalities. Many of Saxion's full-time educational courses are already conducted in English, with more being added each year. Our 'international classrooms' are made up of a mix of students from all over the world. In this way we provide you with a truly multi-cultural experience in which you can compare experiences with and learn from fellow students of different backgrounds and nationalities.
